Any person subsequently offering, selling or recommending the Securities (a “distributor”) should take into consideration the manufacturer’s target market assessment; however, a Distributor subject to MiFID II is responsible for undertaking its own target market assessment in respect of the Securities (by either adopting or refining the manufacturer’s target market assessment) and determining appropriate distribution channels, subject to the distributor’s suitability and appropriateness obligations under MiFID II, as applicable.

What are the key risks that are specific to the Issuer?

The Issuer and its subsidiaries are subject to the following key risks:

- On 4 September 2025, Fitch Ratings revised the Rating Watch on Mediobanca's Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) (BBB) to Negative (RWN), from Evolving. The Rating Watch revision follows the rejection of the takeover bid for Banca Generali by Mediobanca's shareholders in the context of the shareholders' meeting of Mediobanca on 21 August 2025, pursuant to Article 104, paragraph 1 of the Financial Services Act (TUF). Consequently, according to Fitch, Mediobanca's "ratings no longer reflect the benefits that would have arisen from the takeover". Furthermore, according to the rating agency, "the RWN reflects the downward risks to Mediobanca from Banca Monte dei Paschi di Siena S.p.A.'s exchange offer for the bank, given their relative rating levels, the large execution risks entailed in a deal of this scale and the potential negative repercussions for Mediobanca's franchise and performance". On 11 September 2025, S&P Global Ratings placed its 'BBB+' long-term issuer credit rating on MB on CreditWatch negative. According to S&P, the "CreditWatch placement reflects that the transaction could erode MB's creditworthiness due to its integration into a banking group with comparatively weaker franchise and higher risk profile". While acknowledging that the acquisition of Mediobanca could bring benefits to the commercial and financial position of the new entity, S&P believes that "the combined entity could end up with a lower credit profile than Mediobanca's stand-alone credit quality" and consequently they "could lower the rating on MB by one notch" also taking into consideration that "it might take some time for full benefits in the new group to materialize".
- The operations, earnings capacity and the stability of the sector of the Issuer and the its subsidiaries may be influenced by its credit standing, the general economic situation of Italy and the entire Eurozone, trends on financial markets and the economic, social and financial consequences generated by the Russia/Ukraine conflict and the tensions in the Middle East due to the rekindling of the conflict between Israel and Hamas. With reference to financial markets, the solidity, resilience and growth prospects of the economies of the countries in which the Issuer operates in particular will be especially important. The macroeconomic scenario currently reflects significant areas of uncertainty in relation to: (a) the Russian-Ukrainian conflict; (b) the conflict between Israel and Hamas; (c) the structural reforms being undergone by China; (d) the possible joint actions by the main rating agencies and (e) trade tensions deriving from the decision of the United States administration to impose sweeping tariffs on imports from a wide range of countries, including the European Union and China, and countermeasures adopted by the impacted countries. These developments may weaken global economic growth, discourage investment and create further inflationary pressures which in turn would affect the growth prospects of the Issuer and its subsidiaries. Accordingly, as at the date of the Base Prospectus, the deterioration or continuation of the conflict, and the further tensions between the Western world and China, coupled with the possibility of combined actions by the rating agencies and the trade war, risks creating negative repercussions on the earnings, capital and financial situation of the Issuer and its subsidiaries.
- The business activities of Mediobanca and its subsidiaries and their earnings and financial solidity depend also on the credit standing of their respective clients and counterparties. Mediobanca is exposed to the risks traditionally associated with credit activity. Accordingly, breach by its customers of contracts entered into and their own obligations, or the possible failure to provide information or the provisions of incorrect information by them regarding their respective financial and credit situation, could impact negatively on the earnings, capital and/or financial situation of Mediobanca.
- As of the date of the Base Prospectus, the Issuer's capability to implement the actions and to meet the targets to be reached (the "Plan Objectives") contained in its 2023-26 Strategic Plan, as updated on 27 June 2025 for the period 2025-2028 depends on a number of circumstances, some of which are beyond the Issuer's control, including, but not limited to, the macroeconomic scenario, which could be compromised by the consequences deriving from the Russia/Ukraine conflict and from tensions in the Middle East and the trade tensions, the changes in the regulatory framework, and the effects of specific actions or concerning future events which the Issuers are only partially able to influence. Furthermore, there is no certainty that the actions provided for in the Strategic Plan will result in the benefits expected from implementation of the Plan Objectives; if such benefits fail to materialize, the results expected by Mediobanca may differ, even materially, from those envisaged in the Strategic Plan. In addition, the resulting acquisition of control by BMPS, as well as the change in the composition of the Mediobanca's Board of Directors, make it impossible - at present - to (i) determine which of the Plan Objectives will eventually be pursued or modified due to the change in ownership and governance structures and (ii) predict the impact that such acquisition of control will have in the future on the organizational structure, business activities and results of Mediobanca.

- The Issuer is subject to market risk, defined as the risk of the loss of value of the financial instruments, including sovereign debt securities, held by the Issuer as a result of movements in market variables (including, but not limited to, interest rates, stock market prices and/or exchange rates) or other factors that could trigger a deterioration in the capital solidity of the Issuer and its subsidiaries. In the financial year ended at 30 June 2024 market fluctuations were mainly driven by interest rates and monetary policy expectations.
- The Issuer is exposed to different types of operational risk. The event types most impacted by operational risk are originated by products sold to clients, commercial practices, the execution of operating processes, and frauds committed from outside Mediobanca and its subsidiaries. Although the Mediobanca and its subsidiaries have adopted a system for recording, assessing and monitoring operational risks with a view to preventing and containing them, it should be noted that unpredictable events or events otherwise beyond the control of the Issuers could occur, which could impact negatively on the operating results of the Issuer and its subsidiaries, activities and earnings, capital and/or financial situation, as well as on their reputation.

- The Securities involve a high degree of risk, which may include, among others, interest rate, foreign exchange, time value and political risks. Investors should be prepared to sustain a partial or total loss of the subscription or purchase price of the Securities. Certain general risk factors related to the Securities referencing an Underlying Reference, including that the market price of the Securities may be volatile; that investors may receive no remuneration; that investors may lose all or a substantial portion of their principal in case of non-capital guaranteed Securities; that the Underlying References may be subject to significant fluctuations that may not correlate with changes in interest rates, currencies or other securities or indices; that the timing of changes in an Underlying Reference may affect the actual yield to investors, even if the average level is consistent with their expectations;; and Securities are of limited maturity and, unlike direct investments in a index investors are not able to hold Securities beyond the Settlement Date in the expectation of a recovery in the price of the underlying.
- The Issuer may, but is not obliged to, list or ask for admission to trading of Securities on a stock exchange or a trading venue. If the Securities are listed or admitted to trading on any stock exchange or trading venue, there can be no assurance that at a later date, the Securities will not be delisted or that trading on such stock exchange or trading venue will not be suspended. The Issuer or any of its Affiliates may, but is not obliged to, be a market-maker for an issue of Securities. However, during certain periods, it may be difficult, impractical or impossible for the entity acting as market-maker to quote bid and offer prices. Even if the relevant Issuer or such other entity is a market-maker for an issue of Securities, the secondary market for such Securities may be limited.

Considerations Associated with specific types of Securities

- Risks associated with Multiple Final Payout – 1-Way Floor Securities: Investors may be exposed to a partial or total loss of their investment. The return on the Securities depends on the performance of the Underlying Reference(s) and the application of floor feature.

Risks relating to Underlying Reference Asset(s)

- In addition, there are specific risks in relation to Securities which are linked to an Underlying Reference (including Hybrid Securities) and an investment in such Securities will entail significant risks not associated with an investment in a conventional debt security. Risk factors in relation to Underlying Reference linked Securities include exposure to one or more shares, similar market risks to a direct equity investment, global depositary receipt ("GDR") or American depositary receipt ("ADR"), potential adjustment events or extraordinary events affecting shares and market disruption or failure to open of an exchange which may have an adverse effect on the value and liquidity of the Securities
- The occurrence of an additional disruption event or optional additional disruption event may lead to an adjustment to the Securities early settlement or may result in the amount payable on scheduled settlement being different from the amount expected to be paid at scheduled settlement and consequently the occurrence of an additional disruption event and/or optional additional disruption event may have an adverse effect on the value or liquidity of the Securities.
- An optional, other early settlement feature is likely to limit the market value of the Securities. Following an optional or early settlement, a Securityholder generally would not be able to reinvest the settlement proceeds (if any) at an effective interest rate as high as the remuneration rate on the relevant Securities being settled and may only be able to do so at a significantly lower rate.

Risks related to the market generally

- Issue price and the offer price of the Securities include placement fees and structuring fees. The placement fees shall be paid by the Issuer to the Distributor. Any such fees may not be taken into account for the purposes of determining the price of such Securities on the secondary market and could result in a difference between the original issue price, the theoretical value of the Securities, and/or the actual bid/offer price quoted by any intermediary in the secondary market.

Certain considerations associated with public offers of Securities

- The Issuer has the right under certain conditions to withdraw the offer in relation to the Securities, which in such circumstances will be deemed to be null and void. Investors who have already paid or delivered subscription monies for the relevant Securities will be entitled to reimbursement of such amounts, but will not receive any compensation that may have accrued in the period between their payment or delivery of subscription monies and the reimbursement of such amounts.
